SupplyX Strengthens Sales Team: Antje Lochmann Named New VP of Sales for Germany

Hamburg, September 1, 2026 – SupplyX, an Otto Group company and specialist in digital logistics solutions, is further expanding its leadership team: Effective August 1, 2026, Antje Lochmann has assumed the position of Vice President of Sales Germany. In her new role, she is responsible for the strategic development of the sales team and the expansion of customer relationships.

With Antje Lochmann, SupplyX gains an experienced sales expert with a strong network in the market and comprehensive expertise in the international logistics business. She has been active in the industry for about 25 years and worked for companies including Hellmann, HHLA, and Transfracht before joining GEODIS. There, as Managing Director, she was responsible for the Freight Forwarding and Contract Logistics divisions and later took over as head of sales for the DACH region. She has also been a member of the Logistics Council since 2022.

In her new role, Antje Lochmann will drive the further expansion of sales at SupplyX and continue to strengthen the company's position as a partner for digital supply chain management. Her focus will be on expanding the customer base, developing the solution sales team, leveraging synergies within the Otto Group, and developing trade lanes with global partners.

Experienced Sales Manager to Drive Business Growth

"SupplyX combines international logistics services with a consistent approach to digitalization – this combination particularly appealed to me. I appreciate the dynamism and flat hierarchy of a young company as well as the backing of the Otto Group: This allows us to focus on our core competencies while benefiting from the synergies and deep understanding of our customers' supply chains that a corporate group with this tradition brings," says Antje Lochmann, Vice President of Sales Germany at SupplyX.

The SupplyX management team also welcomes the new addition. "With Antje Lochmann, we are gaining a sales professional who has had firsthand knowledge of the European logistics market for many years and has an excellent network. In addition to her many years of sales experience, she brings a deep understanding of complex logistics structures, freight forwarding, digitalization, and customer-focused business development," said Henning Goldmann, CEO of SupplyX GmbH, regarding the appointment. "Together, we aim to continuously expand our sales strategy and further establish our digital solutions in the market.”

With Antje Lochmann’s appointment, SupplyX is consistently continuing to expand its management team. The company supports industrial and commercial enterprises in making global supply chains more transparent, resilient, and efficient. As a member of the Otto Group, SupplyX combines long-standing logistics and retail expertise with data-driven solutions for modern supply chain management.
